

Contemporary Looms

by Asiatic London

Dear Valued Customer,

It is with great pride and excitement that we share the launch of our newest rug collection. Each piece represents not only our passion for design and quality but also the continuation of a story that has been woven into our family for generations.

For over 60 years, our family has dedicated itself to the art of floor coverings. What began three generations ago, as a small family business has grown into something much larger, yet we've never lost sight of our heritage or our deep knowledge and respect for craftsmanship, quality, timeless design, and the people who welcome our rugs into their homes.

Drawing on decades of experience, we've carefully curated designs that blend tradition with modern living. Every rug reflects our belief that a floor should bring warmth, interest, a sense of home. We believe it is the finesse that completes a room. Over the generations, we partnered with skilled makers, leaned on our shared expertise, and together poured our passion into creating pieces that we truly believe represent the very best in floor coverings

Thank you for your trust in us, and for allowing us to be part of your home, and for supporting a family business that continues to honour its roots while looking toward the future. We are so excited for you to experience this new collection, and we hope that it brings as much joy and meaning to your home as it has to ours in creating it.

Yours Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Sharon Kelaty", with a stylized flourish at the end.

Sharon Kelaty

Our Story

Our story begins in 1960, when Soli Kelaty founded Asiatic Carpets with a simple yet powerful vision- to bring beautiful, quality rugs from around the world into every home. Born into a family of rug traders, Soli began modestly, working from his van and garage, supplying oriental rugs to local retailers across London. His dedication, eye for quality, and commitment to service quickly earned him a loyal customer base and a growing reputation for excellence.

By 1962, Soli had opened his first premises in Finchley, North London, specialising in rugs imported from India, China, Pakistan and Turkey. This early success laid the foundation for what would become one of the UK's most trusted and respected rug brands.

In 1985, Soli's daughter Sharon joined the business, bringing fresh creativity and a background in Art & Design. Together, the father-daughter team expanded Asiatic's offering, launching new styles that reflected changing tastes and the growing influence of home fashion. The opening of a Beijing office helped streamline production and scale operations, setting a new industry standard in product consistency and volume delivery.

In 1994, Soli's son Freddy joined the business, further strengthening the company's operational and strategic capabilities. With demand continuing to rise, Asiatic invested in a robust logistics infrastructure, investing in major warehousing in London, including European hubs.

A Family Legacy Woven Through Time

This enabled Asiatic to carry deep stock support across extensive product ranges, speedy order processing, and reliable, efficient delivery to customers in the UK and around the world, thus ensuring reliable availability and rapid fulfilment for its growing customer base.

By the late 1990s, Asiatic launched its first modern Chinese collections, moving beyond traditional oriental designs and marking the start of a design-led approach that would define the brand's future. The company quickly gained recognition as an innovator in the rug industry, a reputation proudly upheld to this day.

As the company continued to grow, offices were opened in India and Turkey, reinforcing Asiatic's global reach and deepening relationships with skilled artisan partners — many of whom the company has worked with for decades. Today, more than six decades on, Asiatic remains proudly independent and family-run. Led by second-generation siblings Sharon and Freddy Kelaty, the company continues to combine its heritage with innovation, and operational excellence. With a global supply chain, established infrastructure, and a passionate, experienced team, Asiatic creates rug collections that reflect the lifestyles of today — without ever losing sight of the values on which it was built: craftsmanship, creativity, service, and uncompromising quality. When you choose Asiatic, you become part of a legacy woven over generations, a shared journey of design, craftsmanship, and excellence.

The Materials

At Asiatic, we are committed to crafting rugs that stand the test of time. Each collection is made using high-quality fibres, carefully chosen for its unique qualities. Our choice of materials is intentionally diverse, allowing us to create a myriad of textures and finishes. From natural fibres to easy-clean performance yarns, these materials ensure our creations feel just as great as they look.

The Craft

Over the years, we have built and nurtured relationships with our key production partners, enabling us to consistently deliver the best in both style & craftsmanship. We take great pride in our ability to innovate with pile heights, yarn density and tonalities, ensuring each fibre performs to its potential. Our rugs are meticulously crafted using both rich traditional techniques and the latest cutting-edge technology, but beyond the construction, it is our creative application of colour, technique, and yarn placement that creates the beauty and depth in our designs.

How to Love our New Rugs

Rugs travel a long distance in a sealed wrap, so when it arrives the first thing to do is let it settle in place. Creasing and odours from the dyes can occur during the shipping process but will disappear in a couple days, reverse rolling the rug overnight will help speed up the removal of creases.

Shedding and loose yarn is a natural characteristic with certain fibre types and will continue throughout their lifetime. This will start to decrease over time and depending on use. Do not pull loose yarns out these should be trimmed or pulled to the reverse.

A rug can last a lifetime with right care but fading and wear will occur faster in high traffic areas and bright light. To reduce effect, we recommend rotating the rug 2 to 4 times a year to ensure even fading and wear.

How to clean

Natural Materials

Wool

Clean spills immediately with a dry absorbent cloth, never rub a spill. If a stain cannot be removed seek specialist advice.

Jute

Jute is a natural fibre and is not water resistant, avoid placing jute rugs in areas with high moisture. If a spillage happens blot the stain immediately with a dry cloth, if a stain or spillage cannot be removed seek specialist advice. To protect colours, keep away from bright sunlight.

Synthetic Materials

Polyester (incl. RPET) & Polypropylene

These are resilient fibre. A common rug cleaning detergent will be able to remove most stains, if not, seek specialist advice.

Viscose

Viscose is a delicate fibre, avoid placing in high traffic or high moisture areas. Blot spills immediately with a dry cloth. Seek specialist advice if stains or solids cannot be removed from the pile.

Colour Variation

Every single handmade Asiatic rug is unique; dyes can change from piece to piece due to different dye batches.

Images are best representations of colour; however, colour can change depending on screens, light or print quality. We recommend seeing a sample before buying.

Rugs made from hand carded and undyed yarns will have a natural variation in colour and placement of colour, making each piece unique.

Washable

For collections highlighted as machine washable ONLY

- Wash Separately
- Wash at 30°C
- Use mild detergent
- Line dry only

For best results use a large capacity washing machine, with above 25kg capacity. We recommend using industrial sized washing machines for all rug sizes. Do not use a fabric softener. Please refer to individual rug care label for further information.
