BRAXTON W

GRID DISRUPTED, A NEW LANGUAGE OF GEOMETRY

Unapologetically contemporary, BRAXTON brings mid-century modern designed on Bauhaus principles. Its interrupted grid system mimics Brutalist forms with functional artistry that balances order and disruption, transforming irregular shapes and textures into a refined, architectural statement.

QUIET FIELDS, STRONG LINES, A SOPHISTICATED NEW NARRATIVE

More than a stripe, WREN is a narrative of texture and place where its design recalls the measured simplicity of traditional cloth, reinterpreted with a refined hand. Feeling familiar, contemporary farmhouse is woven with a sophisticated rhythm capturing the grounded ease of country life and timeless quality.

A close-up photograph of a red sofa with a dense, woven texture. The sofa is positioned diagonally across the frame, with the backrest and seat cushions visible. The background is a warm, wooden wall. A semi-transparent dark red banner is overlaid across the middle of the image, containing the main title and a descriptive paragraph. The brand name 'DELRAY' is located in the bottom left corner.

COMFORT IN FULL STEREO

Turned up in texture and informed by the underground energy of the mid-century era, DELRAY blends comfort with confident, lived-in appeal.

SORELLA W

A close-up photograph of a person's hand, adorned with two gold rings, gently touching a light-colored curtain. The curtain features a prominent, textured chevron or zigzag pattern in a slightly darker shade. To the left, a window frame is visible, showing a glimpse of green foliage outside. The overall lighting is soft and natural, highlighting the texture of the fabric and the skin of the hand.

A FLUID GESTURE WOVEN WITH A PRIMAL PATTERN

More than a backdrop, SORELLA is a gentle language of light with a primitive weave that is soft in presence but strong in detail - one that feels serene, architectural, and beautifully restrained.
